

Neonatal Cases

Case 1:

3 Day old baby girl, 3500 gram infant, 40 weeks, born to a 28 year old G2P1 Caucasian woman after an uncomplicated pregnancy and delivery. Developed jaundice at age 2 days which increased gradually. Rest of exam normal

Case 2:

5 Day old baby boy, 4200 gram infant, 41 weeks, born to a 28 year old G1P0 SVD assisted by forceps due LGA. Developed jaundice at age 3days which increased more today baby looks jaundice and have left parietal cephalhematoma , Rest of exam normal

Case 3:

23 hours baby boy to 24 year old G1P0 Asian mother delivers a 3400 g male infant at 38 weeks. Baby noticed to be jaundiced on face and trunk, poor feeding and lethargy.

Case 4:

4 weeks old baby girl born full term 39 weeks t birth weight was 2300 g to Asian mother 31 years old G3P1 with uncomplicated pregnancy and delivery came to ER as her parents concerned that their baby had jaundice, since of 1 week of age which increased gradually.

Case 5:

1 day old baby boy was born at 36 weeks gestation to a 31 year old G3, P1 mother with premature rupture of membranes occurred 27 hour prior to delivery. The infant was pale and did not cry immediately. The infant has not nursed well for the last 12 hours, developed fever over the past 6 hours and noted to be lethargic.

Case 6:

1 Hour old term baby boy birth weight was 4100g 38 weeks IDM was born by Caesarean section due LGA. Normal Apgar score. Needed routine resuscitation. On examination the baby is tachypnic and grunting,. No heart murmur.

Case 7:

Newborn Preterm 31 week male (BW 1300g), Uncomplicated pregnancy. Required significant resuscitation including IPPV and Nasal CPAP+6 FiO2 30%. Placed on the warmer in the delivery baby started to have increased working of breathing with desaturation and bradycardia.

Case 8:

Preterm 25 weeks baby boy (BW 750g) born by Caesarean section due uncontrolled gestational hypertension GBS unknown. Mother did not receive antenatal steroids.

Case 9:

2 days old baby girl term 39 weeks SGA BW 2400 g was born by SVD to 21 years old mother. Uncomplicated pregnancy, Normal Apgar score. Needed routine resuscitation. Discharged physical exam was normal except for abnormal red reflex!

Case 10:

8 hours baby girl term baby 39 weeks (birth Weight 4100 g) born by SVD to mother 35 years old G3P2 her pregnancy was complicated with gestational diabetes and was controlled with insulin, baby was not feeding well and noticed to be irritable and jittery